Remembrance Day: How can we remember?

Photography at Ecole Sainte Catherine

Did you happen to notice the beautiful photos of some of the students at Ecole Sainte-Catherine? This year's Parent Council has a goal to keep families involved and connected with the amazing things happening in our school. A newsletter went home in October with more information about the photography program. Below is a link where you can view photos of the students and download images!

It can be hard to know how to express the significance of Remembrance Day to our children. Considering the nature of war, finding age-appropriate manners to express our gratitude on November 11th can be difficult to navigate. Below are some tips for teaching your children about Remembrance Day, as well as a list of ways that you and your loved ones can participate in the holiday.

Talking Tips

Choose the Content Wisely

- Ensure that your content is age appropriate and in line with what you would like your child to be exposed to.

Focus on Honoring People

- a great approach that is appropriate for all ages is to discuss dedication and sacrifices that people made to ensure our safety today.

Talk About Your Family History

- Discussing your family's history and sharing photos is another great way to personalize the meaning of Remembrance Day.

Ways To Participate:

Make and share a Peace Crane with another student around the world

Send a "Postcard for Peace" to a veteran

Participate in two minutes of silence, wherever you are.
